

meret oppenheim

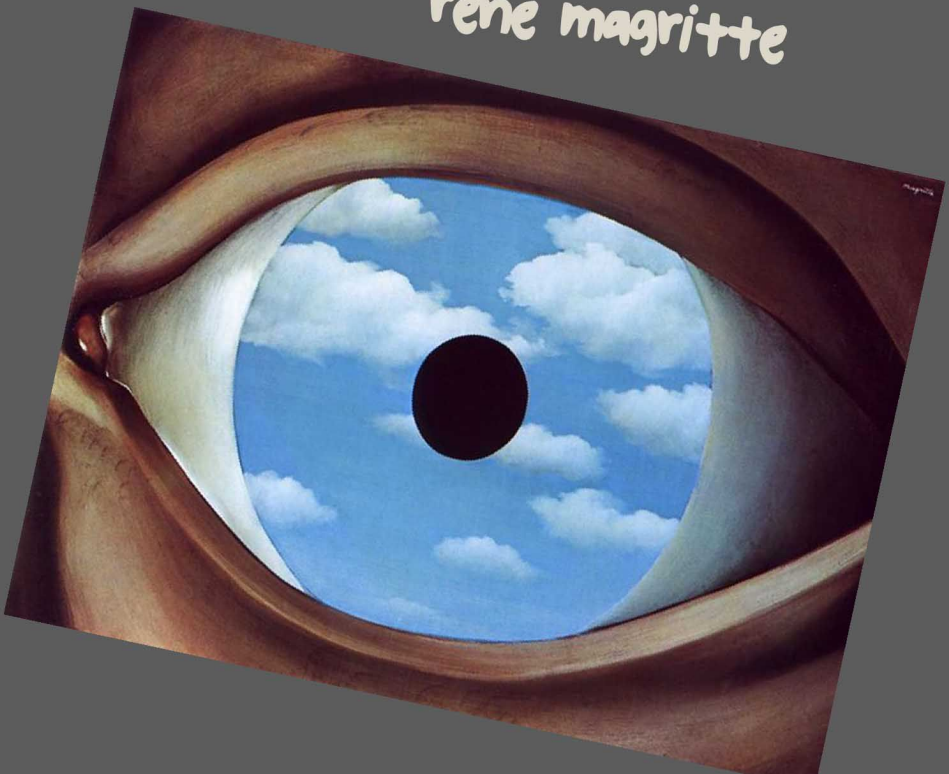

unfunctional object!

reality vs representation

This is not a pipe.

rene magritte

replacing the objectified entity with
the one who objectifies it

rene laloux

a provocation

In kantian terms, human brain is the active originator of an interaction not just a passive receiver

a salt shaker:

pours salt

a bowl:

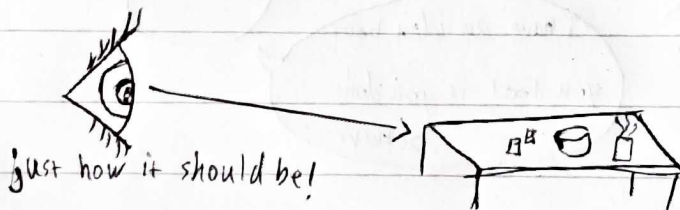

holds liquid for you

a plant:

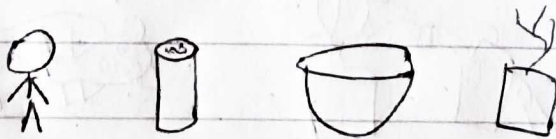

grows to look pretty

But what if this idea makes the "object" passive

BUT!

triple O theory suggests a different model

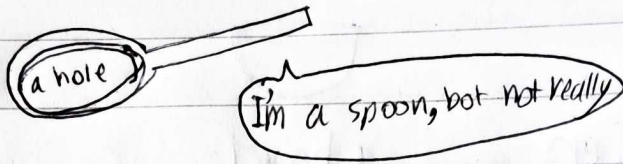

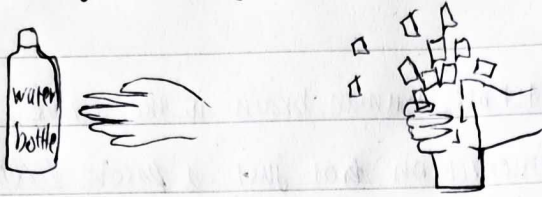

are entities are independent

no anthropocentrism?

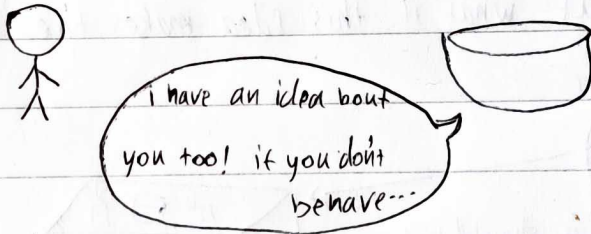

the object might malfunction!

and that's when a notice it!

The objectified object of the subject can be replaced!

entity :)
the object can be heard or sensed in a different way ...

