

As the revolution in Egypt tore through one of the worst and longest ruling tyrannical regimes it has yet to fulfill the principles on what it erupted for. The 2 years of instability in the country tell so many stories of heroes and villains and the fine line between the two. As a person who has participated in the revolution and witnessed first hand the horrors committed in order to keep just a few people in power I am interested in highlighting the sequence of important events that happened from the start of the revolution till its second anniversary.

My method of realizing this is to create a Minimalistic animation short using two different styles of animation (digital and hand drawn) to contrast and bring to the foreground what may be overlooked having limited or no involvement with the revolution.

My hope is to inspire awareness and document such a unique and rare event. I wish to impact as many people as possible ranging from people whom participated to the ones that have only read mainstream news headlines.
