EMILY BECKER DESIGN

Graphic design, track & field, photography, family, Adobe Illustrator, traveling, color, friends, Adobe Photoshop, Milka Chocolate, shape, people, Adobe Dreamweaver, music, contrast, books, Adobe InDesign, day planner...

From these and many other places I draw my inspiration. Ever since I was a little girl I enjoyed drawing and crafting artworks for my family and friends. The first time that I realized how much the arts really mean to me was at the beginning of my exchange student year in Springfield, IL, USA (2007/08).

I took a short trip to NYC and took 600 pictures within 48 hours. Naturally, a much smaller portion of these images made it into the final selection but that was my wake-up call leading me straight to the arts. Despite of living in a different country, with many different cultures and a different language, I had the time of my life and I decided to repeat that as soon as possible.

A photography class, two years of high school back at home in Berlin, Germany tons of pictures and hours of Photoshop later I was back on the plane to the Midwest. The small city of West Lafayette, IN was to be my new home and Purdue University my new pride for the next four years. Having been a passionate track athlete since the age of 5 I got and took the chance to be a member of the Purdue Women's Track & Field Team for three years.

17 years of track, 4 years of art education in the Visual Communications Design program at Purdue and great support from family and friends have made me the person I am today - outgoing, persevering, creative, humorous, athletic, trilingual, open-minded and always ready for new challenges to push me out of my comfort zone.
